LATEST TELEGRAMS.

GUITEAU'S CIRCUS.

The Prosecution Has Closed Its Case.

Washington, 3.—In the criminal court, this morning, Guiteau made his opening speech as follows: "I had a very happy New Year's yesterday, and hope everybody else did. I had lots of visitors, high-toned, middle-toned and low-toned. That takes them all in, I believe. They expressed their opinions freely and none them want me hung. They all without dissent expressed the opinion that I shall be acquitted."

Scoville resumed the cross-examination of Dr. Gray. Witness had not, in giving his opinion on the direct examination that the prisoner was sane, taken into account the evidence of the prisoner himself, but taking that element into consideration his opinion would still be the same, that the prisoner is sane and was sane on the 2d day of July. Witness was asked if he was familiar with the case of Lieutenant Sanborn, who was killed by Dr. Wright at Norfolk, Va., and replied, Yes, sir; I was sent by the President to make an examination and give an opinion on the case.

How much did you get for it? shouted Guiteau; your idea, doctor, that a man can't be insane unless his brain is diseased is rather frivolous. You ought to study up psychiatry, then you would catch some new ideas.

Witness did not believe in what is termed by some writers "emotional insanity," or "moral insanity." "Kleptomania," he considered simply thieving; "dipsomania," drunkenness; "pyromania," incendiarism. Their designations were simply convenient terms which had been invented to cover certain crimes. Insanity, said the witness, is never transmitted any more than cancer.

The examination progressed with tedious detail in an effort to extract something favorable to the defense. Counsel renewed the attack upon witness again and again and each time was met with evasive or qualified replies. Finally Scoville, with some impatience, inquired, "can you tell me, doctor, how many direct replies you have given me this morning?"

Answer—"I don't know that I have given you any, Mr. Scoville. I am under oath and I propose to give you the information bearing upon this case in my possession, but I do not care to drag my personalities into it any more than possible." The prisoner meanwhile had observed marked decorum, at intervals gazing at the windows, but most of the time he appeared to be busily engaged in writing his autograph upon cards which were handed him from the audience by attendants. Scoville desired to put in evidence certain tabulated statements from the annual reports of witness. From these it appeared that of fifty-four cases of homicides by insane people, seven were by persons acting under insane delusion of divine authority for their acts.

Dr. Gray resumed after recess, and the prosecution then announced the case closed for government.

Scoville said he was taken by surprise by this sudden action. Dr. Bowker, of Kansas City, testified that Mrs. Dummyer told him in Leadville that she hesitated about getting a divorce because she was not sure but that he was insane.

Clark Mills, sculptor, took the stand for the purpose of identifying a plaster cast of Guiteau's head.

Judge Porter objected, as it would re-open the insanity question. The court so ruled, and witness was withdrawn. Judge Cox silenced Guiteau, who was attempting to read a letter to himself.

Guiteau—When I speak I speak to 50,000,000 people, not to the little crowd in this room. Marshal Henry, (rising and moving towards the dock)—"Keep quiet, sir," Guiteau—"I have got through, sir." The marshal whispered some instructions to the bailiff sitting in the dock. A moment later the prisoner started up another harangue and the bailiff put his hand upon his shoulder and attempted to quiet him. Guiteau snarled out: "Get away from me or I'll slap you in the month." With this outburst he subsided.

John W. Guiteau was again put upon the stand and questioned in relation to Guiteau's letter to Senator Don Cameron. Davidge—"I object, your honor, to any attempt to introduce what has prima facie appearance of manufactured testimony." Guiteau—"So do I." After arguments upon the question by the defense this witness was withdrawn.

Scoville again brought up the question of introducing new witnesses, and arguments were made pro and con. An agreement was finally made that the defense shall submit in writing, to-morrow morning, their motion, giving the names of witnesses and facts to be testified and supported by affidavit, and giving a reason why such witnesses were not introduced before.

Adjourned until to-morrow.

A Beautiful Variety of PRO-GRAMME CARDS, suitable for the Bathroom, at HERALD Office.

Oscar Wilde.

New York, 2.—A chilled crowd of aesthetic human beings beat their hands and stamped their feet on the dock this morning, while waiting for the Arizona, on which was their apostle, Oscar Wilde. The big ship stuck fast on a bank of mud 200 feet from the dock; tugs pushed and pulled, the Arizona's engines worked vigorously, but mud was victor for a time. While the fight between steam and mud was in progress, the shivering mass of humanity greeted, with round after round of applause, the towering form on the Arizona's deck. It was of a man, youthful in appearance. He stood six feet four inches; he has a smooth face and long flowing locks, an overcoat of bottle-green cloth; a fur-lined and fur collar, seal skin cap and yellow kid gloves, made the man more conspicuous. It was Oscar Wilde, poet and journalist. "I am here to greet, lecture and see the country," he said, with a hearty laugh. "Will I stay long? Really I can't say. It depends on circumstances. My fellow voyagers have given me such glowing description of the country I am in; also I will see what there is in your great metropolis, and the far west has attractions, unless it is misrepresented, that I must witness, and I am anxious to see something of Mexico." Lighting a fresh cigarette, Mr. Wilde continued: "Already I have experienced something of American courtesy. I was 26 last October. I shall remain long enough to see what there is worth seeing in America."

Attempted Fraud.

New York, 3.—A clever and partly successful attempt at swindling by means of adroitly manufactured telegraphic dispatches, has just come to light in Havana. Telegrams purporting to be forwarded from Madrid through the deus agency S. S. Spencer were printed in the Havana papers on the morning of December 24th; announcing that, at the drawing of the national lottery, at Madrid, December 23d, ticket No. 04745 had drawn the capital prize of $500,000. On Saturday afternoon ticket 04745 was presented to the banking house of J. M. Borjes & Co. who declined to negotiate it until the genuineness of the telegram could be ascertained. They cabled their Madrid correspondents, and on Monday received a reply confirming the published dispatch. They thereupon negotiated the ticket and the following day Payees returned G. Borjes & Co. $211,000 against cable transfer on Paris. A member of the firm left Havana, for New York, Thursday, with the ticket, in order to send the same to Madrid, under seal and insured. On arrival here this morning he received telegrams from his house informing him the dispatch establishing the genuineness of report of drawing was forged and the entire transaction a fraud. Subsequent dispatches assured him that a large part of the money had been recovered, in Havana, and he says he believes a million francs transferred to Paris have not passed into the possession of the swindlers.

Rich and Racy.

New York, 3.—The Post's Washington special says: The postoffice department is waging war against the Mormons, which is practical in its operations, and very likely to establish an anti-Mormon influence in the Territory. Most of the 275 post-offices in Utah are in small settlements, and fall under the class where the compensation to postmasters is derived from his commissions on his sale of stamps. Most of these postmasters have been democrats and Mormons, but in a few cases they have been republicans and anti-Mormons. Recently the postoffice department found that Mormons were making it a religious matter, and were systematically boycotting republican postmasters, the residents going several miles to buy their stamps of democratic Mormons rather than purchase at home where the postmaster was obnoxious on account of his religious views. The department found evidence of great concerted action of this sort between the inhabitants on one side and Mormon postmasters on the other. The latter have therefore been removed and anti-Mormon republicans substituted.

Capt. Hooper.

Chicago, 3.—Tribune's Galena: The Hon. Wm. H. Hooper, formerly delegate to Congress from Utah, has arrived in Galena his early home, en route for Washington. Hooper is president of the Deseret bank in Salt Lake, and of the Mormon cooperative association. He espoused Mormonism soon after locating in Salt Lake, but is opposed to polygamy, he having but one wife. He will remain in Galena a day or two visiting old friends and will go from there direct to Washington. It is understood the object of his visit to the capital will be to lobby in the interest of Cannon and Mormonism. He is very wealthy and influential.

LESLIE'S MONTHLIES, when bound, make a neat little volume. The HERALD Bindery does work in every style and at reasonable rates.

REALLY MOUTHED HUB-RAY.

On his Annual Interviewing Tour.

Chicago, 2.—The Inter-Ocean interviewed Governor Murray, of Utah.

Have you any definite idea as to what will be the legislation of Congress on the subject of Mormonism?

I have no idea what will be done in the way of legislation. I take for granted, however, if Congress will take hold of the question with the view to its peaceable, but effective solution, that it will pass Mr. Willett's (Michigan) bill providing for the establishment of a legislative council for the territory, in lieu of the present legislative assembly of the territory, which is paid for by the United States, and which is composed entirely of Mormons and polygamists, while the legislative council provided for by Mr. Willett's bill will have its members appointed by the President with the approval of the Senate. My whole purpose in following the course which I am doing is to secure for Utah and her people the enjoyment of the highest sense of all the privileges of American citizenship. The governor laughed heartily at the idea expressed in recent special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune from Washington to the effect that he had been summoned to Washington in his own defense, and said such an idea was ridiculous; that the going forth of such a suggestion was simply part of a systematic attempt made to break him or anyone else who attempted to secure the strict enforcement of the laws of Congress and the United States.

WASHINGTON.

Washington, 3.—The Senate contingent fund investigating committee reassembled to-day. W. F. Brown, foreman of the treasury department cabinet workshop, presented the memorial in which, he said, he gave dates, time occupied and character of work done by him upon Secretary Sherman's new house and stable, and also showing that this work, or some of it had been charged to different bureaus of the department.

Excess of exports of merchandise for the twelve months ended Nov. 30, 1880, $162,638,759; excess of imports of gold and silver coin and bullion for the twelve months ended Nov. 30, 1880, $59,342,990.

Only routine business was considered at the cabinet meeting to-day. The President accepted the resignation of J. Stanley Brown, private secretary.

General Sherman has issued an order stating the abuse of medical leaves on surgeons' certificates has grown to be so great that it becomes necessary to invite special attention of officers making certificates, and authorities granting or recommending leaves, to absolute requirements and regulations on this subject.

Cabinet Chatter.

New York, 3.—The Commercial Advertiser has the following from its Washington correspondent: With the return of the President and the reassembling of Congress, come rumors about the two remaining members of the cabinet. It is assumed, however, that at least one of them is fixed upon Sargent, of California, who is likely to have charge of the interior department. There is, however, strong opposition from certain parties who have access to the President's confidence to find a man who would satisfy all parties. The stories circulated by Sargent's enemies in regard to his integrity have been exploded. There is no more upright public man in the country than Sargent. He is known to be against jobbery in all shapes, and all admit that he has ability to discharge the duties of the office. For good and sufficient reasons the appointment in all probability will not be made for a week or so. Chandler is still pressed by a host of friends for the navy department. He is strongly backed by leading stalwarts and opposed by half-breeds, who continue to keep Boutwell in the field as a candidate in order to defeat Chandler.

Wool.

Philadelphia, Pa., 2.—Wool continues firm, without change in prices.

Boston, 3.—The wool market was firm, with a steady demand, and full prices continue to be realized for all kinds. Sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have been made at 40¢ to 45¢ for X and XX, and good average XX was generally held at the latter prices. Michigan X fleeces selling at 42¢, and are firm at that figure; coming and delaine selections remain the same; sales at 40¢ to 50¢ of fine delaine and fine combed unwashed combed have been in moderate demand, sales at 25¢ to 30¢ coarse and medium grades of unwashed fleeces in demand, and sales at 25¢ to 30¢ fine 25¢ to 30¢ medium grades, full prices maintained. Pulled-wood is in good demand. The feeling is very firm for all kinds of wool, and good range in prices looked for.
